SHOULD HAVE A MARKET

The liberal offer of a free site to the town, to be used for the establishment of a public market, shows that the donors, Messrs. Stomer, Lockwood & Wheeler, realize the importance to the town of such an institution, and the prompt manner in which the council accepted the gift will be good news to the citizens.

The Review has, on several occasions, advocated the necessity of a public market, and there never was a time when it was more needed than right now. While we realize that our council, like all other councils, is passing through a very trying time, financially, yet we feel that some special effort should be put forth in an endeavor to start the market going at once. At the present time those of our citizens who can conveniently do so are patronizing the Medicine Hat market and they tell us that they make a big saving every trip.

We would suggest that if at all possible the council erect some kind of a temporary shed on the premises donated and install a few watering troughs for the convenience of farmers, then set a regular market day. As Friday is the Hate big market day we would suggest Saturday as ours. In this way farmers who have any surplus stock could come out here, where we are sure they would have no trouble disposing of it. This system could be continued until such time as arrangements were made whereby the farmers from the district surrounding Redcliff could get in here from the south either by way of a ferry or bridge over the river. Then we could have a market day of our own.

The establishment of a market here at the present time would help materially in reducing the cost of living and at the same time give our people an opportunity of procuring some of the necessities of life at a reasonable cost.

SHOULD HAVE RELIEF COMMITTEE

Because of the depression of the past year and on account of the present crisis in Europe, people on all sides are predicting a hard winter for those who have been or will be out of employment. As every town and city will have its share of unemployed, and as Redcliff will, no doubt, have its share, it behooves those who are more fortunate to do their share in these trying times by helping others to fight the battles of poverty and hardship. By so doing they will be performing a duty to the Empire none the less heroic than those who are fighting on the battlefield.

If there are any in our town who are in need of assistance the work should be undertaken in an organized manner and not done individually or promiscuously. In the latter way one family might be getting all the care and attention while others were passed by unnoticed. We would suggest that the ladies' organizations of the different churches meet and select a joint committee, which, with the addition of a few men, could work in conjunction with the town council. By so doing the ground would be covered thoroughly and there would be no overlapping.

If such a relief committee were appointed we feel they would have very little difficulty in securing food, clothing and money enough for the wants of the needy.

Already we are glad to be able

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY

Money spent at home means helping to build up schools, churches, sidewalks, sewers, roads, etc., in your own town. Money sent out of town to departmental stores, etc., means helping to build up some other town or city. Which do you want to help, your own or some other town?

To announce a good start for a fund for this purpose. The directors of the baseball club met in the Review office last Wednesday to wind up business for the season and found that they still had $100 in the treasury. It was unanimously decided by the directors that should a relief committee be selected for the purpose of helping the needy in town this winter, the club would hand over the entire balance to that committee. This move on the part of the ball club is a most commendable one and will be greatly appreciated by the citizens.

SHOULD TAKE ACTION

The Carlstadt News says: "The mail and passenger service on the main line of the C. P. R. is going from bad to worse, and we sometimes wonder how long it will be until the towns rise up in protest."

The News is quite right. The service now dished up by the C. P. R. reminds us very much of the Red River Cart days. In fact it is not nearly so satisfactory, as the carts were going and coming every hour of the day. Now we have only three freights a week and only one passenger train each day. So far as Redcliff is concerned the poor C. P. R. Service doesn't effect us much as we have a good automobile, bus, and dray service between here and the Hat, but if the Carlstadt News will get busy and organize a delegation from all the towns affected, to wait on the C. P. R. officials and if necessary bring the matter to the attention of the Railway Commission, the Review can assure the News Redcliff will join heartily with them and send its share of representatives. "Actions speak louder than words."

WHERE DUTY LIES

While it may be taken for granted that the desire of going to the front is not one with less among reservists as among those who volunteer, it should be remembered that there is that in the circumstance which makes a difference as it individually applies. The volunteer goes out, to a great extent, free from all responsibility. The reservist has the call, even though a willing one, forced on him. He in many cases may be married, man with a family, and it must be a tug at his heartstrings to wrench himself from those who are not only near and dear to him, but dependent on him. If he had been in employment with good wages he has been forced to throw it up, to receive the regulation pay of the British Army, ranging from 25 cents to 25 cents a day, excluding allowances for his rations, etc., according as he belongs to the Infantry, artillery or cavalry.

Our duty, therefore, should not be only concentrated in giving effective aid to those who are in the line of battle. There is an equal duty, and not an iota less noble, in looking after the requirements of those left behind, and seeing that those at the front have no need for anxious thoughts for those left behind.

Nor should our efforts be confined to monetary aid alone, but much can be done by taking an interest in the families temporarily deprived of husbands and fathers, visiting them, and showing our sympathy for them in what to them most particularly is a time of trial.

HALF RATES ON

FEED FOR FARMERS

That the government and railroads are taking prompt action for the relief of the farmers of Southern Alberta whose crops have been ruined by the drought, is evident from the following letter received by the Redcliff Board of Trade from the Department of Agriculture of Alberta:

Edmonton, Aug. 24, 1914.—Dear Sir: Arrangements have been made with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to ship hay, straw, wheat, oats and barley at one half of the regular carload rates from Stirling to Calgary, Stirling to Medicine Hat, and from the Medicine Hat to Calgary. These rates will be in effect from September 1st to March 1st.

We have not completed arrangements with regard to the shipping of live stock northwest from this point but expect to be able to make an announcement soon. I have the honor to remain, Your obedient servant, CHARLES S. HOTCHISS.

ALLEGED GERMAN LOSSES TO DATE

London, Aug. 25.—In a dispatch from Paris the Exchange Telegraph Company's correspondent sends the following summary of alleged German losses as printed in the Paris Matin: Twenty-four cannon taken by the Belgians from the third to the fifth of August at Liège. Three cannon taken by the French near Spinkourt, August 12. Twelve cannon taken by the French near Scheldt, August 15. Twenty-four cannon taken by the Russians at Stallupönen, east Prussia, August 17. Twelve cannon taken by the Russians at Gumbinnen, east Prussia, August 17. This makes a total of 81 pieces of field artillery, besides which were captured a number of pieces of heavy artillery, rapid-fire guns, aeroplanes, and 18 motor wagons. In addition 140 German lost two flags to the Belgians at Liège, a cavalry standard was taken at Dinant and a flag was captured by the French at St. Hilaire, August 15.

An enthusiastic Russian Ulan after receiving his Volunteer badge, became very proud of it. Meeting a friend of his, an old Jew, the next day, he stopped him and showed the badge. "Look at that!" he exclaimed proudly. "Do you know what U. V. E. stands for?" "Oh, yes," said the Jew, after some hesitation, "it stands for 'Ulan's Vile Fight!'"

BOARD OF TRADE

HEARS FROM DEPT.

In reply to a letter written by the secretary of the Board of Trade here to the department of agriculture, Ottawa, asking that steps be taken to establish experimental irrigation plots where the advantage of irrigation might be demonstrated is under consideration, but as yet no definite decision has been arrived at. I am forwarding a copy of your letter to the commissioner of irrigation at Calgary, and it will be taken into consideration when the question is being further discussed.

Your obedient servant, Asst. Superintendent of Irrigation

GERMANS NEAR BASSANO BEING CLOSELY WATCHED

Russar is the name of a German village situated just north of Bassano on the Bec-ano-Irreana line. In the surrounding district a settlement of Germans is located. Being of recent arrival from the Fatherland, the call to arms for the defence of Germany appeared very strongly to them and several of them have been sent to the front for Germany. The news of their departure was soon spread about the district and the movement was taken. Now every German has to report weekly to Sergt. Johnson in Bassano. Two or three times a week commissaries in the German army.

WOULD CLOSE BARS

DURING THE WAR. The Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League is leading a movement to have the bars closed during the war, and has already sent in a petition asking that this be done, if not during the entire course of the war, at least during the first few months of the pluck. The petition goes on to request that, after the operation is called off, the hours in which liquor may be sold be reduced.

NO DANGER OF GLUT

ON THE OIL MARKET. If every oil well now in process of digging proved to be a real "bummer" and if it can be constructed, every proposed well means out a grubber, making Alberta the greatest and about the only oil field in the world, there need be no fear in the mind of any investor that the world's market would be glutted, especially if, as seems possible, the oil produced in the oil field is of good quality, yielding a high percentage of volatile spirit.

A few years ago the United States supplied the world with gasoline, but such has been the startlingly rapid growth in the home consumption that the export trade cannot but soon reach the vanishing point. In fact, already considerable quantities of motor spirit have been imported from the Dutch East Indies into the United States.

What It Means.

An enthusiastic Russian Ulan after receiving his Volunteer badge, became very proud of it. Meeting a friend of his, an old Jew, the next day, he stopped him and showed the badge. "Look at that!" he exclaimed proudly. "Do you know what U. V. E. stands for?" "Oh, yes," said the Jew, after some hesitation, "it stands for 'Ulan's Vile Fight!'"

BOY SCOUTS RETURN HOME FROM CAMP

The Boy Scouts returned last Monday, after spending a week in camp along the river bank north of town. They report a fine time, although some contain of short rations. Beyond having put on a fine coat of tan on their faces and arms the boys are looking in excellent shape.

On Monday Day, when a number of women from town visited the camp, there was a program of athletic sports. The following were the winners in the different events: Highest average in "senior" events, Justin Hayes; running high jump, Stanley Fairbank, four feet seven inches; best patrol, the Kangaroos; best cook, Percy Ray; best eater, Justin Hayes; best camp comedian, Huntley Moore. There was also a junior and senior ladies race. Miss Oswald won the former and Mrs. Bryant the latter.

Scout Master Wade and the Scouts wish, through the Review, to extend their heartiest thanks to all those who placed their autos and other conveniences at the disposal of the boys, adding so much to their comfort and convenience, and also to all others who assisted so materially in making the outing a success.

While around the camp fire in the evening the boys composed stanzas of Limericks, a few of which we print below: There's a beautiful city called Redcliff, Though some people call it Dendeliff, Don't have any 'Cation, The Boy Scouts are near, So don't worry about Redcliff.

There's a village near here called the Hat, Which is said to be "prosperous and fat," But it must be quite small, It has no troops at all, We pity the boys at the Hat.

Now a word about Scout Master Wade, A better scout never was made, And I really do think, We'd be on the bank of the Rhine, If it were not for Scout Master Wade.

Now don't let us forget Mr. Bright, Who has certainly treated us white; Let's give him three cheers, 'Till every one hears, And give it with all of our might.

Now you all know Patrol Leader Keith, At swimming he passes belief; When he takes a mud bath He makes us all laugh, For he's black from his toes to his teeth.

A few words about our Mayor Bott, Who helps the Scouts quite a lot; He came out today And kept everyone gay, So boys give three cheers for Mayor Bott.

Don't miss this opportunity. You are always welcome.

BACK TO THE HUMBLE SOIL

Redcliff Residents Are Showing What May Be Done by Irrigation and Intensive Cultivation.

"Back to the soil" is a Redcliff slogan that is evidenced and illustrated in many of the back yards, front yards and vacant lots of the city. And the town crops are far enough along to demonstrate what irrigation and intensive cultivation will do with the semi-arid conditions existing here. Very many of the families of this community are cutting the cost of living and living high on new potatoes, peas, beans, lettuce, radishes, onions, corn, tomatoes, cucumbers, turnips, etc. No finer truck gardens are to be seen anywhere.

The only regret to be felt is that the movement did not include a larger acreage, as it might have solved the problem of the unemployed, with results more satisfactory than all the jobs that have been available. On the south side of the town there are some hundreds of acres that may be conveniently irrigated and cultivated. An acre or two of irrigated land here will support a family in comfort and independence.

Here is an opportunity for the town authorities, to assist. Where employment may be provided for all in need.

The town might lease the land and provide the water for irrigation. It may be too late to raise a crop this year, but now is the time to prepare the land for next year to insure some measure of prosperity against a continuance of the depression now prevailing all over the land.

BEST OIL DRILLS ARE COMING TO ALBERTA.

Drilling machinery of the very latest kind will soon be operating throughout the Alberta oil fields. According to the equipment companies more than one hundred cars of drilling machinery are now on their way to Alberta. Outfits are arriving on almost every train and the business of hauling this machinery to the grounds is proving a "period of activity for teamsters."

A LETTER ABOUT CANADA.

We Clip the Following from the Chicago News.

When I read in the News-Advertiser a communication to your paper in which a reference was made to American farmers retracing their steps to the United States. May I be allowed to enter a reply?

On my way east from Vancouver I visited Calgary and the growing industrial city of Redcliff. In the latter city they have natural gas fuel in so great a quantity that it is almost running to waste. All around the city—north, south, east and west—there is a great agricultural community. This is settled by the best of Anglo-Saxons and experienced American farmers. Redcliff supplies building materials and all manner of settlers' supplies and a number of the factories are manned by American capital. Redcliff itself is surrounded by an empire. All around this town are Americans in agriculture.

The boilers for the Rosary have arrived and are now being put in place. As soon as this is completed the glass will be put on and preparations made at once for sewing society.

Mr. Nevill, who has been a resident of Redcliff for some time and has considerable property here, left this week for Portsmouth, England, where he will visit friends.

Peter Begg arrived in town last Tuesday morning from Taber, and left again Wednesday for his farm in Saskatchewan. He has completed his contract in How Island.

Joe Palmer, who has been in Redcliff for four years, left last Monday for Drumbo, Alta., where he will work in the coal mines. For the present Mrs. Palmer is staying with Mrs. Harlan.

The fine, steady, all-day rain last Sunday was a rare treat for this district this season. Although it was a little behind schedule time to do any good for the crops it may help the pastures out some.

Word comes from Ottawa to be effect that the government will look after the actual needs of the soldiers during the coming winter. Farmers are also advised not to sell any brood stock at present.

Mr. W. B. McLean, of Moosemin, Sask., stopped off here today on his way home from the coast. While in town he was the guest of Ed. L. Stone.

Heavy firing was heard in the vicinity of the nuisance ground last Wednesday and for a few days it was thought the Germans were attacking from the west, but after some scouting it was learned that the firing was merely a stray shell from the hazy hunting grounds by the rifle route.

Quite a number of here joined with Medicine Hat last Wednesday evening in visiting the volunteers from this district who are going to the front in a royal send-off. One of the biggest crowds the Hat has ever seen joined in the affair. Among the contingent were seven young men from Redcliff.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rose left Thursday on a long cruise over the prairie. They expect to reach the feeding grounds of the wild ducks before the season opens next Tuesday. They have taken a tent and provisions along and intend camping along the way.

WHO WILL BE HIS SUCCESSOR?

Lord Nelson, England's naval hero of a century ago, whose defeat of the French at Trafalgar earned him the memory in the heart of every true Briton.

Mr. W. Hubbs, who for the past year has been connected with the Review as a partner in the business, left Monday evening for New York to join his wife and family. Mr. Hubbs made a number of warm friends in Redcliff and we are sorry to lose him. He has considerable property in Redcliff and other centers and his friends here hope to see him return soon and bring with him his wife and family.

A few weeks ago we warned parents and children against the dangerous and unlawful practice of carrying fire in town. One of our readers has since been warned and has since been warned and has since been warned.

The weeds on some of the vacant lots in town are making great headway and unless they are destroyed before they go to seed there will be a bountiful harvest of tumble weed next year. Probably some of our owners of property are not aware that a Provincial law requires that all weeds must be kept down and a heavy penalty is attached for those who neglect to give this matter their attention. We would advise all owners of lots to have this attended to before the Weed Inspector gets around.

Word of Thanks
I would like to take this opportunity of thanking my many customers for their patronage and support since I opened up business in Redcliff. By careful attention to your wants and business we will assuredly be able to merit a continuance of the same in the future.

ECENTRICITY OF DRESSES.
Whom women listen to M. Worth, the man whose name is a household word for them? If so, we may dimly hope for some and to the tawdry vulgarities of eccentricity and the hideous complications of the knowledge of indecency that more and more distinguish modern woman's taste in dress.

M. Worth is all for harmony and simplicity. The strange madley of matter's, the piling up of far on lace, the ceaseless search in the search for something new, all dignify this artist's soul. These modern lunacies are good for trade, but they are death to what he justly calls "tact in dress."

As for the naive male, he has become so used to the "pinnacle of woman trying to look like anything from a lamp post to a lamp shade, so long as the outward appearance of femininity is successfully concealed, that he is the prey of a morbid delusion. To him modern and fashionable woman seems a terrible creature. In exchange for the ancient charm of modesty and grace we have the very qualified attraction of a flashy and immodest eccentricity. Blahed skirts, light dresses, dreadful colors, noxious shoes, terrible hats, and blue wigs make woman prominent. They do not make her pretty. Indeed, "pretty" is a word as jolly little word—which we shall soon forget the meaning.

TO FORTIFY CAPITAL
A Fortune's despatch from Rome says that an official message from Vienna states that Emperor, Francis Joseph has signed a decree ordering the capital to be put in a state of defence.

Travellers from Trieste state that the Austrians concentrating for the defence of the latter have been increased. All the Austrian fleet has been assembled in the Passau canal at Pola.

Canadian Peace Centenary Association

The movement for celebrating the hundred years of peace between the British Empire and the United States is, judging by a circular just issued by the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, making rapid head in Canada. Great Britain and the United States.

The general proposals contain many features, (1) Monuments and other memorials, (2) Thanksgiving services in the churches, (3) Educational propaganda, (4) The circular enumerates various suggestions regarding the erection of monuments, and states that the matter has been referred to an international committee.

Feb. 14, 1915, has been selected for Thanksgiving services in all the churches of the British Empire and the United States. This date is the nearest Sunday to Feb. 17, 1914, the centenary of the ratification of the Treaty of Ghent.

The educational propaganda includes several important features among which may be mentioned the preparation and issue of pamphlets dealing with the various treaties which have made the long peace possible, which it is intended to send to all the schools in Canada. Tableaux and masques are in course of preparation which will also be sent to the schools for production on a date to be hereafter arranged. A somewhat unusual proposal is that schools in places bearing the same name should be invited to exchange pupils. It is intended to arrange for the writing of competitive essays on Anglo-American relations, and provision is being made for provincial and dominion contests.

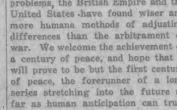

About 100 centres have been chosen for special celebrations in Canada and the United States. The circular also reports the progress made in Great Britain and the United States and contains replies received last Christmas from world rulers to a message sent in connection with the celebration by the American Committee.

The Dominion Government has expressed its appreciation to the association for its preliminary organization expense. In announcing this the Rt. Hon. E. L. Borden said: "The cause which they have set before them is one with which we are warmly sympathetic. It is a triumph of humanity over a century of rapid development, despite the existence of serious international differences and problems, the British Empire and the United States have found wiser and more humane methods of adjusting differences than the arbitrament of war. We welcome the achievement of a century of peace, and hope that it will prove to be but the first century of peace, the forerunner of a long series stretching into the future as far as human anticipation can carry itself."

The list of members is a most representative one and contains the names of all the Lieutenant Governors, all the Ministers of Religion and nearly all the Premiers in Canada. Among those prominent who have identified themselves with this movement may be mentioned: The President of the Canadian Peace Centenary Association is Sir Edmund Walker of Toronto, and the Honorary Secretary, Major Hamilton, of Ottawa.

Those desiring copies of the circular should address Mr. E. H. Scamblers, Organizing Secretary, Hope Chambers, Ottawa.

ALLIES BLOCKING ROAD TO BERLIN

The conflict of millions appears at last to be in progress. Even such news as the sinking of the Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse passes besides the static battle evidenced by the tribute of General Joffre, French commander-in-chief to the British army. The allies are all signing to block to road to Paris with the German habit of flying away than New York is from Philadelphia. Meanwhile the Russian host is drawing nearer to Berlin. Not even during the first great struggle between Asia and the enormous battle fought is not impenetrable alliance as concerns the other world, here have been such absolute silence. Only the vague generalities are given to the peoples of Great Britain and France by their respective governments. The German people probably know little more of what their arms are accomplishing. All the information the British public obtained today was the report of the French, announced by Premier Assolant at his house of commons that the army was engaged Saturday against a superior force and fought splendidly, and that he considers its prospects splendid in impending battles. Further information that French troops have moved over a distance of 200 miles, necessitated changes in the position of the British troops, which are occupying a strong line supported by the French on both flanks against the German advance.

The impending battle will undoubtedly be an attempt by the Germans to place before the same name should be invited to exchange pupils. It is intended to arrange for the writing of competitive essays on Anglo-American relations, and provision is being made for provincial and dominion contests.

The British public is becoming restless under the suspense. The newspapers are beginning to demand a loosening of the censorship, while women through the war office for news of their husbands and sons.

MAKING TRAVEL SAFE
A new automatic signal and train control device has been tested and found practicable on one of the leading American railways. It is declared that, with almost human intelligence, this machine will slow down a train to a certain speed when approaching another train, a broken rail or any other known danger, bringing the train to a full stop before it comes too near to the menace. All this is done automatically. In spite of the engineer, the train will obey the machine's warning.

A passenger train going at sixty miles an hour the engineer, besides attending to his engine, has to lean out of the window and watch for block signals. The new device relieves him of this responsibility. Along the track at intervals are pins that are raised by a bit of metal on the engine. If the block is clear, the information is conveyed to the engineer by means of a white flashing light, as a warning, as continuous a green light flashes; and if there is danger a red light flashes. But more than this, if the green light appears the speed of the train is reduced materially, while the same mechanism that flashes the red light applied the air brakes instantly. The agency that accomplishes this is electrically combined with compressed air.
